

Newsletter - November

Celebrating Children's Day: Honouring the Birth Anniversary of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru

The birth anniversary of Jawaharlal Nehru was celebrated with immense joy, laughter, and creativity as children participated enthusiastically in a series of cultural and recreational activities. The programme featured melodious songs, lively dances, engaging games, and vibrant art sessions, allowing every child to express themselves with confidence and happiness. The celebration served as a meaningful reminder of Pandit Nehru's deep love for children and reaffirmed our commitment to nurturing young minds with care, learning, and the freedom to dream big.

Interactive Learning Session for Holistic Development

A dynamic learning session was conducted with 50 children to enhance their knowledge and creativity through engaging and participatory activities. The programme included a quiz, debate, special sharing, and an informative video presentation, all designed to encourage confidence and active involvement. Children enthusiastically shared their ideas, collaborated with peers, and enjoyed the learning process. The session significantly contributed to the development of their creativity, communication skills, teamwork, and overall enthusiasm for learning, making it both enriching and enjoyable.

Awareness Programme on Prevention of Child Marriage

Under the Prevention of Child Marriage project, our team organized an engaging puppet show and street performance that included puppet dance, mask performances, and a short play. The programme effectively highlighted the harmful effects of child marriage through creative storytelling and visual expression. With active participation from the community, strong messages were shared on the importance of girls' education, empowerment, and the collective responsibility needed to prevent child marriage and protect the rights of every child.

